

Nikolas Badminton is a world-renowned futurist, Chief Futurist of the Futurist Think Tank and internationally recognised keynote Speaker. With more than 30 years of experience advising global businesses and governments, he helps leaders understand emerging trends, navigate technological disruption and prepare for what comes next.

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

As Chief Futurist at Futurist.com, Nikolas Badminton works with some of the world's most influential organisations to explore future possibilities, anticipate disruption and develop strategies for long-term growth. Over his career, he has advised more than 600 organisations, including NASA, Google, Microsoft, Disney, American Express, Rolls-Royce and the United Nations. A Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts (RSA), Nikolas specialises in strategic foresight, emerging technologies, artificial intelligence and organisational transformation. His work has been featured by the BBC, The Atlantic, Forbes, Fast Company and Business Insider. He is also an award-winning author whose book Facing Our Futures provides business leaders with practical tools for futures thinking, innovation and strategic planning.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Nikolas helps organisations move beyond conventional thinking to anticipate disruption, identify opportunities and create strategies for long-term success. Through keynotes and executive sessions, he explores artificial intelligence, emerging technologies, global trends and strategic foresight, giving leaders practical tools to navigate uncertainty and drive innovation.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Energetic, thought-provoking and engaging, Nikolas combines compelling storytelling, future-focused insights and provocative questions to challenge audiences.