

Barry Humphries CBE

Award-Winning Actor, Aka Dame Edna Everage, Film
Producer & Script Writer

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Barry Humphries is one of the funniest and most loved performers Australia has produced. A comedian, satirist, dadaist, artist, author and character actor, he is perhaps best known for his on-stage and television alter egos Dame Edna Everage, a Melbourne housewife and "gigastar", and Sir Les Patterson, Australia's foul-mouthed cultural attaché to the Court of St. James'.

"Barry Humphries is first & foremost a comedian & satirist"

In detail

John Barry Humphries went to London in his early twenties and became serious about acting. He has been a part of our cultural landscape for close to 50 years and has captured the hearts of millions of people from all around the world. Time has seen Dame Edna become better understood and greatly loved. She has since appeared in productions such as Housewife, Superstar!, A Night With Dame Edna, An Evening's Intercourse, Back with a Vengeance, Look at Me When I'm Talking to You and Edna, The Spectacle. She has also starred as a regular on the worldwide television smash hit Ally McBeal, which, Humphries points out, is one of Edna's favourite programs.

What he offers you

Barry Humphries is most famous for his hilarious and confronting satirical characters that seem to have, over time, become as real as their creator. He is available as a host or after-dinner speaker for a whole variety of events. Alternatively his alter-egos Dame Edna Everage or Sir Les Patterson can host your event instead!

How he presents

Legendary comedy performer and star of London's West End musical theatre, Barry Humphries' characters have gripped and challenged his audiences and his performances are truly unforgettable.
