

Sir Christopher Meyer

Former British Ambassador to the United States

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Sir Christopher Meyer is one of the most highly respected diplomats of the last 20 years. After retiring as British Ambassador to the US in 2003, he became Chairman of the Press Complaints Commission, a post he stepped down from at the end of March 2009. He also serves on the board of GKN and runs his own consultancy. In 1998 he was made a Knight Commander of the Order of St Michael and St George.

"Sir Christopher is an expert in Media Relations"

In detail

Sir Christopher's time in Washington coincided with extraordinary events: the war in Kosovo, the impeachment of President Clinton, the inauguration of President Bush, 9/11, the war against Al Qaeda in Afghanistan, and the preparations for war in Iraq. Throughout these events Sir Christopher was at the heart of the British-American relationship. In his 36 years as a career diplomat, Sir Christopher has occupied a number of key positions: British Ambassador to Germany; press secretary to Prime Minister John Major; press secretary to British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey (now Lord) Howe; speech writer to three Foreign Secretaries in the 1970s and head of the political section of the British Embassy in Moscow.
