

Jordan Belfort

One of the Most Infamous Names in American Finance

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Jordan Belfort was the CEO of brokerage firm Stratton Oakmont. Now that we have fallen into a state of economic crisis, stories of excess and malfeasance on Wall Street are once again in the news and we witnessed arguably its most spectacular and titillating crash and burn in Jordan Belfort. For his "Pump and Dump" scheme, he served 22 months in a federal prison inspiring a major motion picture currently in development at Warner Brothers with Martin Scorsese slated to direct and Leonardo DiCaprio to star.

"Jordan Belfort had it all and lost it all"

In detail

Jordan Belfort received a B.S. in Biology from American University in 1984. He is now the international bestselling author of the book 'The Wolf of Wall Street', which was published in seventeen countries and details the havoc wreaked upon both others and himself as he fell under the influence of his addictions. His excesses are famous including sinking his 167' yacht, complete with seaplane and helicopter, after overruling the captain and taking it into a Mediterranean storm.

What he offers you

The ill-fated genius Jordan Belfort takes you on a tour of the sort of seedy underbelly of the financial market scene, the dark side of which, in some form, is always out there. He reveals how he created the massive brokerage firm Stratton Oakmont from nothing, making hundreds of millions of dollars and how greed and his addiction to power and excess caused it all to crash down around him. He narrates a story of greed, power, and excess no one could invent.

How he presents

Often engaging, insightful, hilarious, and naughty, Jordan Belfort's recollections are a true gritty pleasure. He may be repentant, but he has lost none of his rapier wit or sense of humour.
