

Annie Voller

Radio & TV Presenter

Annie is professional, charming and friendly.

Annie Voller is a Radio and TV Presenter and is popular across a host of channels, including Fox, the BBC, and Channel 5, specifically reporting upon worldwide issues. With hundreds of hours of live experience under her belt, there is no situation she can't handle.

TOPICS:

- Communication Training
- Host and Moderator
- Presenter
- Q and A

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

An intellectual thinker with a depth of knowledge unparalleled within her field, coupled with her specific experience in Health, Pharma and Technology, has seen her undertake many keynote speaker, host and facilitating roles at international conferences, congress and events for large pharmaceutical, technology and financial companies such as GlaxoSmithKline, Amarin, Cisco, Microsoft and many others.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

An accomplished presenter and event host, she offers an intellectual spin to any event with an established history of presenting behind her, confirming her status as a firm favourite across the industry, especially within corporate circles. Annie is available for event hosting, key note speaking, interviewing and leading Q And A's, round table and plenary meetings, auctioneering, team building, script writing, voice over, presenting and communication training.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Annie's ability to turn her hand to different types of presenting and broadcasting, across a range of genres, makes her a firm favourite as an event host.