

Mr Ed Clancy OBE

Three-time Olympic Champion

"The most successful Team Pursuit cyclist in history"

Ed Clancy OBE is the most successful Team Pursuit cyclist in history, having won gold with Team GB at three successive Olympics. 2021 marked his sixteenth year as a Team GB team pursuit cyclist as he competed in his fourth Olympic games in Tokyo. He is regarded as an explosive sprinter with the durability to match.

TOPICS:

- Teamwork
- Achieving Goals
- Motivation
- Inspiration
- Self-Discipline
- Going for Gold

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Ed was scouted by British Cycling at the age of 16. He won his first gold medal with the Great Britain Team Pursuit squad at the 2005 World Championship, aged 20. Since then, he has competed as an endurance cyclist on both track and road, notably riding for JLT-Condor road team from 2011 to 2018. He won gold in Team Pursuit at both the Beijing Olympics in 2008 and the London Olympics in 2012, and was World Champion in Omnium in 2010, winning a bronze medal in the discipline at the London Olympics. Ed retired from Team GB in 2021. He currently works part time for British Cycling's Research and Innovation Team and consults for British Triathlon. In 2022, he launched performance consultancy business Pursuit Line with his long-term mentor and business partner, Phil Kelly.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Ed brings his experience from the cycling world and translates it to wider practice in business and other areas, interspersing anecdotes with personable and achievable advice.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Ed presents and inspires audiences with the story he has faced throughout his career in order to achieve his goals.