Bobby Davro

Renowned British Actor, Comic Impressionist, Stand-Up Comedian, Singer & Awards Host

Bobby Davro is one of the country's favourite comedians and is known for his brilliant impressions. In 2010, he took part in Dancing on Ice. He has appeared on a variety of TV shows, including Eastenders and Come Dine with Me. In 2003, he was one of the contestants in the Channel 4 reality TV show The Games, following his father's footsteps, who was a world record holder and who represented Great Britain in two Olympic Games.

"A comedy legend & national treasure!

In detail

Bobby Davro made an early impression at school - he was caught mimicking his headmaster, a Harold Wilson sound-a-like, and was given six of the best! His major breakthrough came with an appearance on Live From Her Majesty's in 1983. This led to his Saturday night series Bobby Davro on the Box which immediately topped the ratings for six consecutive years. In 1991 he moved to the BBC and made three series, Public Enemy Number One, Rock with Laughter and Run The Risk. He returned to our screens as host of Yorkshire Television's Winner Takes All for 65 programmes. Beyond showbiz, he's also been very successful as a property developer.
