'Tight, well structured, funny and original...Solid stand-up set with attention to gags' "Chortle"

In detail

Chris began his comedy career in 2005. After reaching the finals of both Chortle Student Comedian of the Year and Amused Moose Laugh off competitions Chris went on to appear in a series of pedigree multi-bill Edinburgh shows, including AAA at The Pleasance Courtyard. He has also appeared on ITV2's FakeReaction and Dave's One Night Stand, performed three four sell out shows at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and was part of BBC Radio 1's Fun and Filth Cabaret Show. Chris' wholly original social commentary, observations and anecdotes are his trademark.

What he offers you

Chris brings intelligent material as well as simple jokes to any room. The slickness and confidence of this comic is the first thing that strikes you, other than the name of course.

How he presents

Charming and good looking (despite once being described as 'an uglier version of Jenson Button') Chris sounds like a nice middle-class young man whose humour occasionally exhibits a wicked side. He enjoys tailoring material to suit the client and/or event and will deliver it with energy and charm.

Languages

He presents in English.
