In detail

Sir Clive has established his reputation as a popular and respected commentator for both ITV Sport and Sky Sport's rugby coverage and as a journalist within the Daily Mail's award winning sports team. Sir Clive remains committed to supporting the development of coaches and athletes and does so through his role as a member of the IOC's Athlete Entourage Committee. He is currently the Director of Sport for APEX2100, a world leading high altitude performance centre at 2100m in Tignes, France and the Founding Partner and Chairman of Hive Learning, an online coaching software.

What he offers you

Clive's reputation as an innovative leader is driven by his determined approach to challenge the traditional school of thought and find new, different ways of operating. In 'Change Thinking' he highlights where his inspiration for change originated and illustrates how effective change creates a dynamic and responsive culture.

How he presents

As a renowned speaker, Clive delivers thought provoking, engaging and entertaining keynotes tailored to the requirements of each organisation he works with. Carefully crafted to inspire, motivate and challenge, Clive's presentations blend practical tools with inspiring video insights from his career.
