

Deborah Meaden

Successful Businesswoman and Entrepreneur

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Deborah Meaden is a highly successful business woman and entrepreneur, who is best known for her appearances on the BBC2 edition of Dragons' Den. Deborah has invested in a number of successful companies and launched her own glass and ceramics export company straight out of Business College, before setting up one of the first Stefanel fashion franchises in the UK.

"I learnt that if you want the good things in life, you have to go and get them"

In detail

With several successful businesses in the leisure and retail sector under her belt, she became Managing Director of her family's holiday park business Weststar Holidays, acquired the major shareholding in a management buyout and later sold the company in a deal worth £33 million whilst retaining a 23% stake. Deborah still retained an active role at Weststar, however began to devote more time to finding good investment opportunities, including those she found on Dragons' Den, which she joined from Series Three.
