

Eniola Aluko

Chelsea & England Footballer and Team GB Olympian

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Eniola Aluko is a footballer who plays for Chelsea, Team GB and represents England at international level. She is the first woman ever to appear as a pundit on the BBC's Match of the Day. In 2015 she founded Crescenda Sport, a consultancy and mentoring service dedicated to developing successful careers in the global sports industry.

"A fantastic ambassador for female sport"

In detail

Born in Nigeria, Eniola is a perfect role model having a degree in Law from Brunel University whilst playing football at international level. She was the youngest player to debut for England at the age of 17 which presented her with the challenge of playing a game in the European Championships. Eniola played for Team GB at the 2012 Olympics which marked a real leap in the attitude to women's sport and football in particular. In 2015 she founded Crescenda Sport, a sports career consultancy and mentoring service dedicated to developing successful future careers in the global sports industry for students and individuals of varying backgrounds.

What she offers you

Eniola offers audiences insights into the sacrifices and sheer hard work required to achieve the top of any profession. She speaks from experience of staying motivated, achieving high performance and self belief and draws parallels to the corporate world. Eniola is also in great demand as an after dinner speaker.

How she presents

An exceptional speaker with a natural ability to captivate and inspire audiences, Eniola Aluko is the perfect choice to speak at a wide range of events.

Languages

She presents in English.

Want to know more?

Give us a call or send us an e-mail to find out exactly what she could bring to your event.

How to book her?

Simply phone or e-mail us.

Topics

Motivation
Inspiration
Goal Setting
Entrepreneurship
After Dinner