Comedian and TV Personality

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Frank Skinner is a talented stand-up comedian and talk show host and has earned his place at the top of the comedy game. He has established himself as a leading name in TV entertainment, selling out two UK tours, the second of which closed to a world record breaking packed house at London's Battersea Power Station.

"Frank has a down-to-earth brand of humour & an ability to relate to an audience on just about any subject"

In detail

Born Chris Collins in the West Midlands, Frank moved on to the local foundry, but decided it wasn't for him. As there was already a Chris Collins in Equity, he used the name of a chap on his dad's dominoes team - Frank Skinner. He says his 'Road to Damascus' moment came during a 1986 visit to the Edinburgh festival, which inspired him to begin a career as a stand-up. He starred in a succession of smash hit comedy shows, including Fantasy Football, The Frank Skinner Show, Frank Skinner's Opinionated and Baddiel and Skinner Unplanned and his highly popular Absolute Radio Podcast. He is currently the host of Room 101.
