

Greg Searle MBE

Britain's Olympic Rebound Rower

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Greg Searle MBE won a bronze medal in the men's eight at the 2012 Olympic Games in London. During the 2012 World Cup Series, he raced in the men's eight. Greg has worked as a management consultant at Lane 4 Management Group since 1997, working with senior executives as a personal coach or facilitating team meetings and running developmental workshops.

"Be the best you can be, whatever your age"

In detail

Greg won a dramatic Olympic gold medal, aged twenty, with his brother Jonny and their cox Garry Herbert in 1992. In recognition of this achievement Greg became one of the youngest ever recipients of an MBE. He and Jonny took the bronze at Atlanta in the coxless four (1996) and Greg retired from international rowing after the Sydney Olympics in 2000 with seven world championship titles also to his name. After his retirement as an international rower, Greg joined the British team in the America's Cup. He was a "grinder" in the 2002 Challenger Series. He returned in the men's eight for the London 2012 Olympics.
