

Jack Carroll

Comedian

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Jack Carroll became an overnight sensation after rocketing to the finals of Britain's Got Talent in 2013. His first audition on the ITV show has received over 8.5 million views on YouTube so far, with Jack coming second on the show at just 14 years old. He has since worked with the likes of Jason Manford and Vic Reeves and on CBBC shows such as The Dog Ate My Homework and 4 O'clock Club. In 2012 Jack was awarded a Pride of Britain Award in the "Teenager of Courage" category.

"Jack is one of the top emerging comedians"

In detail

Jack opened for Jason Manford at three of his tour shows in 2010 as well as performing with him in 2013, opening First World Problems at London's Hammersmith Apollo. Jack has performed at various live events across the country, cementing his place on the national comedy circuit. As well as being a comedian, Jack has firmly established his talents in acting, securing roles in CBBC's Ministry of Curious Stuff, BBC1's Big School and Sky's sitcom Trollied. Other TV credits include CBBC's Sam & Mark's Big Friday Wind Up, ITV's This Morning and BBC's The One Show.
