CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Les Dennis is acknowledged as one of Britain's most popular stage and TV entertainers. He has appeared in many TV productions including soap operas Brookside, Merseybeat, Casualty and the short-lived revival of Crossroads, plus Hotel Babylon and the second series of the UK Celebrity Big Brother.

"Les is best known as the host of Family Fortunes for 15 years"

In detail

As a comedian Les Dennis worked the North West social and working-men's clubs. In 1974, he won New Faces ITV talent show and appeared on numerous light-entertainment shows. In 1982 he joined as one of the team on Russ Abbot's Madhouse and The Russ Abbot Show before forming a comedy partnership with fellow impressionist Dustin Gee, which in turn led to a series of their own, The Laughter Show, which he carried on as a solo performer following Gee's death. His big screen debut was in the film Intimate Relations.

What he offers you
