

Lucy Kellaway

Associate Editor and Management Columnist at Financial Times

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Lucy Kellaway is an Associate Editor and management columnist of the FT. For the past 15 years her weekly Monday column has poked fun at management fads and jargon and celebrated the ups and downs of office life. In her 17 years at the FT Lucy has been energy correspondent, Brussels correspondent, a Lex writer, and an interviewer of business people and celebrities for the Lunch with the FT series and the FT Weekend.

"Columnist of the Year" British Press Awards 200

In detail

Lucy graduated from Oxford University with a degree in Politics, Philosophy and Economics. She received several awards which include the Business Journalist of the Year Awards 2007 and the Wincott Young Financial Journalist Award. In 2006 she was appointed a non-executive director of Admiral Group. In 2013 she presented the History of Office Life for BBC Radio 4 and she is a regular contributor to the BBC World Service programme and Business Daily. In 2012 she was awarded an Honorary Doctorate by the University of Essex.

What she offers you

Lucy offers audiences her unique view of office life and the ways in which management fads can affect the way we work.

How she presents

An entertaining speaker, Lucy's presentations are mind-blowingly funny and packed with her special brand of astute comments and her satirical sense of humour.

Topics

Women in Business
'Management Fads'
'Office Life'
'Sense and Nonsense in the Office'
After Dinner

Languages

She presents in English.

Want to know more?

Give us a call or send us an e-mail to find out exactly what she could bring to your event.

How to book her?

Simply phone or e-mail us.

Publications

2010

Office Hours

2005

Martin Lukes: Who Moved My BlackBerry

1999

Sense and Nonsense in the Office