

Marco Pierre White

World-renowned TV Chef & Restaurateur

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Marco Pierre White is fondly known as "The Godfather of modern cooking" and has been dubbed the first celebrity chef, enfant terrible of the UK. After going into retirement in 1999, he hit our screens in 2007 to take the helm as Head Chef of Hell's Kitchen in the UK.

"The original rock-and-roll chef, Marco Pierre White has a larger-than-life personality, and is a rare gem in the treasure of great chefs

In detail

He began his classical training as a commis under Albert Roux and Michel Roux at Le Gavroche. On completion of his training, he opened Harveys in London, where he won his first Michelin star and was awarded his second in 1988. He was awarded his third Michelin star at the age of 33 - the first British and youngest chef ever to achieve this. As well as being a celebrated chef, Marco is a shrewd businessman with an impressive selection of UK and international restaurants. He is recognised by patrons and peers alike for having provided a highly creative and innovative impetus into contemporary international cuisine. He has also mentored several of today's great chefs including Gordon Ramsay and Heston Blumenthal.
