Stand Up Comedian

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Pierre Novellie is one of the best up-and-coming comedians in the United Kingdom. He appears on BBC3's Edinburgh Comedy Fest Live or 4OD's comedy series Taxi Gags. Pierre also opened for Gary Delaney on his latest tour and has written for television for Adam Buxton on Adam Buxton's Shed of Christmas. He was nominated for best newcomer in the 2014 Chortle Awards, a finalist in the 2012 Chortle Student Comedy Award and won the 2013 Amused Moose Laugh-Off.

"One of Mother Comedy's most exciting recent births"

In detail

He was born in Johannesburg in South Africa but moved to the Isle of Man when he was a boy. Pierre has performed in various locations across the world, including being the first comedian to perform at the CERN LH Comedy night, home of the Large Hadron Collider. He learned his trade in the Cambridge Footlights where he was Vice President and co-wrote and starred in their sell-out 2012 International Tour Show Perfect Strangers.

What he offers you

Pierre Novellie offers an hour of observational stand-up, hinting at the dawn of a major talent. A curious mixture, born in South Africa and living on the Isle of Man, he draws on the oddities of both as a source for gags. His hilarious take on his not so new homeland and fascination with historic British civilizations whilst lifting the lid on mythical giants, Medieval Welsh Law and yoghurt, will keep audiences entertained.

How he presents

Pierre is a confident presence who delivers his gags with authority and with good reason as they hit the spot.

Languages

He presents in English.
