

Rt Hon Rory Stewart OBE

Politician, Humanitarian & Adventurer

"A renowned thinker on global politics, development and conflict"

Rory Stewart OBE is a British politician, humanitarian and adventurer. He has served in successive Conservative governments as Minister for Environment, Minister of State for International Development, Minister of State for Africa, and Minister of State for Prisons. He is currently a senior fellow at Yale University's Jackson Institute for Global Affairs where he teaches politics and international relations.

TOPICS:

- Politics
- Global Security
- Human Rights
- The Prince of the Marshes

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

- 2017 The Marshes
- 2012 Can Intervention Work?
- 2007 The Prince of the Marshes:
And Other Occupational
Hazards of a Year in Iraq
- 2006 The Places in Between
- 2006 Occupational Hazards

IN DETAIL:

Rory has been described by the New York Times as "living one of the most remarkable lives on record." Named by Esquire magazine as "one of the 100 most influential people of the 21st century", Rory was the first man to walk across Afghanistan after the US-UK invasion and served as Deputy Governor of two Iraqi provinces at the age of 29. An award-winning writer and documentary maker, he has advised the US President and British Prime Minister on their Afghanistan and Middle East policy.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Rory shares with audiences his deep knowledge of history, a clear-sighted vision for the future of global security, and unparalleled experience of some of the world's toughest war zones. As such, he has led a fascinatingly broad life of public service.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

A consummate professional, Rory's charismatic ability to engage the audience as well as panel members always guarantee a very lively debate.