

Sanjeev Bhaskar OBE

Comedian and Actor

CSA Celebrity Speakers Ltd

Sanjeev Bhaskar first came to widespread public attention when he starred in the ensemble comedy sketch show Goodness Gracious Me. He was spotted by the creator of Goodness Gracious Me, Anil Gupta, while performing in a show called Secret Asians, alongside good friend and musician, Nitin Sawhney. Sanjeev had already completed a marketing degree and was working for IBM while writing and performing in his spare time. Gupta asked Sanjeev to join the team working on his new idea for an Asian sketch show.

Goodness Gracious Me ran to three series and played to sell-out audiences on tour

In detail

Sanjeev followed up this success with his solo venture The Kumars at No. 42. He writes the show and plays the role of Sanjeev Kumar, who tries to host and broadcast a celebrity chat show from his parents' living room. Sanjeev has secured a three picture screenwriting deal with Miramax. Keen to star on the big screen as well as write for it, Sanjeev can also be seen in Anita and Me, The Guru, The Mystic Masseur and Notting Hill.
