Alpesh Patel

Market Guru and Global Entrepreneur

"The UK's best known internet trader"

A barrister, broadcaster and asset manager, Alpesh Patel reaches 280 million viewers through his newspaper review on the BBC, discussing politics, economics and social issues. Appointed as Dealmaker for the British Government covering India and China, his role is to find innovative technologies and help the companies of outstanding entrepreneurs to go global.

TOPICS:

- Purpose
- Personal Development
- Motivation
- Career Planning
- Leadership in Global Business
- Global Markets Outlook
- International Relations

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2014	7 Simple Strategies of Highly Effective Traders: Winning Technical Analysis Strategies That You Can Put Into Practice Right Now
2013	How to Win at Spread Betting
2012	The Online Trading Cookbook
2008	Learn to Trade Like a Champion
2006	The Mind of a Trader: Lessons in Trading Strategy from the World's Leading Traders
2002	Internet Trading Course

IN DETAIL:

Alpesh was appointed by the Foreign Secretary as the youngest member of the UK-India Roundtable to examine ways of improving bilateral relations between the two countries and report directly to the Prime Minister. His role was to advocate creative solutions from areas of academic exchanges to bilateral trade to tourism. He has written for the Financial Times since 1999, and provided regular market views for Barclays, Merrill Lynch and HSBC, as well as investment talks for American Express and Goldman. Sachs He is a former Visiting Fellow in Business of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, and a trustee of the Royal Institute of International Affairs.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

In his presentations Alpesh Patel combines practical wisdom with academic insights. What makes Patel special is not just his insightful observations of social and economic trends, but the engrossing way he presents them.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Alpesh Patel is an accomplished and engaging speaker who connects effortlessly with his audience. He combines charisma and deep expertise with a relaxed, approachable style, ensuring his talks are both lively and highly memorable. By reading the room with precision, he draws audiences in and keeps them with him at every step.