

Angela Oguntala

Futurist & Innovation Expert

"A renowned futurist"

Angela Oguntala is a futurist and a global authority on foresight and innovation. She is a founding partner at Greyspace a foresight consultancy helping to build meaningful futures. She has led work in education, healthcare, finance, fashion, insurance and policy sectors to facilitate deliberation on emerging challenges and opportunities, inform strategy and develop new thinking.

TOPICS:

- Trends
- Sustainability & Resilience
- Emerging Technology Impacts
- Transformation: Designing for Change
- Collective Intelligence & Imagination
- Innovation

IN DETAIL:

Angela has been asked to speak on a wide range of future-facing topics. She has delivered over 100 keynotes worldwide on themes including: innovating through uncertainty, emerging technology impacts, leadership & organisational foresight, sustainability, trends, as well as on specific domains encompassing the future of work, healthcare, media, and cities. She is a Salzburg Global Fellow for leaders challenged to shape a better world, was named a Future Innovator by the United Nations and has been featured as an expert on futures thinking on various outlets including Sky, TED, and NPR.

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Angela advises organisations on building structures and processes for collective imagination, sustainable transitions and experimental processes to catalyse innovation.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Angela leaves audiences with insights, inspiration and actionable tactics to engage with significant shifts ahead, and to critically question what needs to shift to meet future demands.