

Brian Forde

Leading Expert on Bitcoin and Blockchain

"Named one of the "Most Influential People in Bitcoin and Blockchain"

Brian Forde is the Co-Founder and CEO of Numero, Former White House Senior Advisor for Mobile and Data Innovation and Former Director of Digital Currency at the MIT Media Lab where he led the world's largest academic research initiative on cryptocurrencies.

TOPICS:

- Bitcoin, the Blockchain, and the Future of Transactions
- Cryptocurrency
- Financial Markets
- Big Data
- Business Growth

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Brian is an educator, entrepreneur, technologist, and policymaker who has spent his life using technology to help others. As a former senior advisor at the White House, he spearheaded the Obama administration's efforts to leverage emerging technologies in support of critical national priorities. Brian has helped to educate heads of state, Fortune 500 CEO's and thousands of others as they race to get up to speed on bitcoin and the blockchain before this new technology disrupts their organisations. Dispelling popular misnomers and providing real-life examples and insights on the strengths and weaknesses of this technology, to prepare leaders for experimenting with crypto currencies in their organisations.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Brian Forde provides crucial insights and real-life examples of how bitcoin and the blockchain will rapidly impact companies, consumers and governments. In his presentations, he breaks down this complex technology into simple, universally understandable explanations to help audiences quickly grasp one of the most important emerging technologies for the next 10 years.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Brian delivers fascinating and knowledgeable presentations full of insight into the future of technology together with lively examples which reveal that, the future is already here.