IN DETAIL:

Puyol started playing football for his hometown club, as a goalkeeper and in 1995, he joined FC Barcelona's youth programme at "La Masia", switching positions to play as a defensive midfielder; two years later, he started playing for the club's B-team, occupying the position of right back. Mainly a central defender, he could also play on either flank, mostly as a right back. Also, a Spanish international on 100 occasions, Puyol was part of the squad that won the Euro 2008 and the 2010 World Cup tournaments. In the latter competition's semi-final, he scored the only goal of the match against Germany.
