

Emma Sinclair

Serial Entrepreneur, Techie and Media Commentator

"One of Europe's leading business women"

Emma Sinclair is often described as a 'force of nature' in the world of business and entrepreneurialism. Amongst a long list of distinctions she remains the youngest person to have floated a company on the London Stock Exchange. Her ability to inspire change led her to become UNICEF's first Business Mentor in 2014.

TOPICS:

- Business Innovation
- Tech and Entrepreneurship
- Workforce Diversity
- Health and Corporate Life

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Emma now leads the global software company she co-founded, EnterpriseJungle, which has been voted the most innovative software company in 2014. In 2013 she co-founded Wakeman Road, a health and wellbeing members' space. Selected by The Telegraph in 2012 she launched a twice weekly business column in the Wonder Women section. She also contributes to other papers including the Guardian on business, and the Wall Street Journal on technology, valuation and entrepreneurship. She also regularly commentates on business matters for channels including ITV, London Live and Sky News.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Emma shares the secrets of building a successful business in a challenging economic environment, having an entrepreneurial mindset. Her insightful, enlightening, and often hilarious treasure trove of corporate, entrepreneurial and life experiences make her popular in both business and the media.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

In Emma's words, 'entrepreneurship can change the world' and it's that personal and professional mission that drives her forward with her irresistible passion and drive.

© 2026 Celebrity Speakers Ltd