

Dr. Eva-Marie Muller-Stuler

Partner EY Data & Analytics

"One of the world's best Data Scientists"

Dr. Eva Marie Muller-Stuler is is Partner of EY Data & Analytics and Global Ethical AI advisory board member. She is a passionate and avid supporter of women in technology, contributing as a mentor and an ambassador and co-host of Women in Data Science (WiDS).

TOPICS:

- How to Make Data Science a Success
- Risk of Data Science and AI
- Why Diversity Is so Important for AI and Global Governance

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English and German.

IN DETAIL:

With numerous accomplishments, including being voted as one of the "Top 10 Most Influential Women in Technology", Dr. Eva Marie is a strategically minded CTO and Chief Data Scientist with 23 years' experience in industry leading organisations. As a pioneer in the field, she is a unique hybrid of a deep technical understanding, leadership ability and extensive experience in leading IT operations, corporate finance and M&A. She is a sought-after advisor to start-ups on strategic and financial planning and management, product development and technology. She actively advises both governments and international bodies, such as the UN, on the risk of AI and its impact on society. Dr. Eva Marie works in collaboration with these bodies on developing a worldwide AI ethics framework.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Dr. Eva Marie is an inspirational speaker and passionate about data science and innovation with a great deal of expertise on how artificial intelligence and data science will influence our civilisation in the near future. She excels in her ability to use Data science as a tool to improve corporate performance, increase enterprise efficiency and provide long-term value creation.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Dr. Eva Marie presents her ideas in an entertaining style backed by solid scientific evidence tailored to the clients brief.