

Dr. Eva-Marie Muller-Stuler

Chief Data Scientist and Leader of the Centre of Excellence for Data Science IBM MEA

"Data science is fun!"

Dr. Eva Marie Muller-Stuler is the Chief Data Scientist for IBM MEA. She leads the Centre of Excellence for Data Science at IBM MEA and shares her passion for translating data into structured information as well as implementing sustainable large scale A.I. projects, globally.

TOPICS:

- How to Make Data Science a Success
- Risk of Data Science and AI
- Why Diversity Is so Important for AI and Global Governance

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English and German.

IN DETAIL:

She has worked across multiple industries including; Oil & Gas, Energy, FMCG, Healthcare and the Financial sectors, which is invaluable in assisting enterprises wanting to leverage A.I, Machine Learning and Data Science. She was previously a Chief Data Scientist at KPMG and led the creation of the KPMG Data Universe and a Director at the consultancy firm Alvarez & Marsal. She is the author and co-author of numerous papers and publications as well as a member of various mathematical societies including Women in Machine Learning. In addition to her work in Data Science Dr. Eva is a serial entrepreneur and inventor.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Dr. Eva Marie is an inspirational speaker and passionate about data science and innovation with a great deal of expertise on how artificial intelligence and data science will influence our civilisation in the near future.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Dr. Eva Marie presents her ideas in an entertaining style backed by solid scientific evidence tailored to the clients brief.