

Keith Coats

Co-Founding Partner of TomorrowToday Global

"An acclaimed specialist in leadership and global trends"

Keith Coats is a globally recognised futurist and leadership expert, with a wealth of experience as a speaker, facilitator and author. He is a Founding partner of the international consultancy TomorrowToday Global which focuses on global trends and disruption, rethinking diversity and leadership.

TOPICS:

- Invitational Leadership - How to Lead in the New World of Work
- Future-fit Leadership
- Leading in a Changing World
- Everything I know About Leadership I Learnt from the Kids
- Tuning the Organisation - 9 Things That Need Balancing

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2019 Leading in a Changing Word: Lessons for Future Focused Leaders

2005 Everything I Need to Know About Leadership I Learnt from the Kids

IN DETAIL:

As Director of Storytelling, Keith works at senior leadership and executive level to impart practical and eye-opening information based on years of experience and research on leadership in a world which is constantly changing. Keith's varied academic background, including qualifications in law, child and youth development and technology provided him with a breadth of experience that gives firm grounding to his consultancy business and keynotes. He works in numerous international executive leadership programmes and with business schools including London Business School, Duke CE, the Asia Pacific Leadership Program and the Gordon Institute of Business Science. He consults directly with clients at a board, executive and senior leadership level.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Keith shares his experience with audiences around the world, helping them understand the leadership response to a global context of change, complexity and uncertainty. This global context presents entirely new challenges for contemporary leaders. Keith works with clients around the world to show them how to respond.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Keith Coats engages his audience in a relaxed and easy-to-listen-to manner, using humour to underscore his message.