

Liv Boeree

Poker Player and Science Communicator

"One of the most recognisable faces in professional poker"

Liv Boeree is a self-confessed nerd with a first-class degree in astrophysics, who combines her science background and passion for games to become one of the most recognisable faces in professional poker. She was the #1 ranked female player from 2014-2016 and holds both European Poker Tour and World Series of Poker championship titles after winning more than $4 million on the international circuit

TOPICS:

- Applying Poker Strategies to Business & Life
- Introduction to Statistics, Game Theory and Forecasting
- Artificial Intelligence & Games
- Effective Philanthropy
- Counter-Intuitive Phenomena
- A Woman in a Man's World

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

Liv is a passionate advocate for rational thinking and effective altruism. She co-founded Raising for Effective Giving (REG), a non-profit organisation that encourages poker players to donate to highly effective charities. Liv has appeared as a presenter and host on various television programs, including the Discovery Channel's "Mind Control Freaks" and the "Red Bull Cliff Diving World Series." Since retiring from professional poker in 2018, Liv is now focussed on education, keen to inspire others with the rational thinking techniques she has learned through both poker and Effective Altruism.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Liv combines her passion for science with her expertise in poker, offering a unique perspective that captivates diverse audiences. She has a rare talent for making her audience think deeply while keeping them thoroughly engaged.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

She combines her deep knowledge of science and poker with a charismatic delivery, making complex topics accessible and entertaining. Her talks are thought-provoking, motivating, and often peppered with personal anecdotes that resonate with a wide range of audiences.