Matthew Ollie Ollerton

Former Special Forces Soldier

"Fear. Courage. Strength. Survival"

Matthew 'Ollie' Ollerton has an incredible story to tell. A former Special Forces Operative serving with the SBS, Ollie has travelled far and wide undertaking operations of the highest level during his military career. Ollie is also a member of the Directing Staff in Channel 4's prime-time hit show SAS: Who Dares Wins.

TOPICS:

- Inspiration
- Motivation
- Decision Making Under Extreme Pressure
- Mental Health
- Resilience

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2019 Break Point

IN DETAIL:

After leaving school and joining the Royal Marine Commandos, Ollie's exploits in Northern Ireland and Iraq soon earned him recommendation for the SAS. He undertook high profile missions involving hostage rescue, counter narcotics and counter terrorism, amongst other things. Ollie then went on to use his expertise as a private bodyguard responsible for employing and training a 2,000 strong Iraqi guard force, before heading to South-East Asia to command a three man team infiltrating child trafficking rings, a cause that is still close to his heart today. With this, BREAK-POINT was born; a leadership and development course aimed at the public and corporate sector also supporting veterans suffering the effects of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Ollie Ollerton delivers motivational keynote presentations around teamwork, risk, resilience and leadership. Using his special skills, experience and expertise, he can work with companies to train and engage their workforce.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Ollie is an accomplished public speaker, and is able to talk on a number of topics, to a variety of industries and audiences.