

Dr. Mohamed ElBaradei

Former Director General of the IAEA & Nobel Peace Prize Winner

"A Leading Authority on Nuclear Energy"

Mohamed ElBaradei is the Nobel peace Prize Laureate and Former Vice President of Egypt. Dr ElBaradei is a leading voice on geopolitics and global security. The former Director General Emeritus of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), Elbaradei is a renowned advocate for peace, freedom and democracy in the Arab World.

TOPICS:

- Leadership
- The Future of Nuclear Energy
- The Global Security Landscape
- World Affairs
- Global Leadership

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2011 The Age of Deception

IN DETAIL:

Dr. ElBaradei gained his initial law degree at the University of Cairo and subsequently a Master's degree and Doctorate in international law at the New York University School of Law. He began his diplomatic career in the Egyptian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and he belongs to a number of professional associations, including the International Law Association, the American Society of International Law, and the Nuclear Law Society. Dr. ElBaradei also played a leadership role in the Arab Spring of 2011 and assumed the responsibility of Interim Vice President of Egypt in 2013, following the mass country wide protests which led to the removal of President Morsi.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Dr. ElBaradei sheds light on top global security and political issues, such as the role of nuclear technology in a changing world, the road to durable global peace, and the future of the Arab world.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Mohamed ElBaradei's concise analysis and remarks are memorable, eye-opening experiences. He captivates audiences with his charisma and strength of character providing far-reaching insights that transform audiences.