IN DETAIL:

Professor Ghemawat earned his PhD in Business Economics from Harvard University. Between 1983 and 2008 he was on the faculty at the Harvard Business School where, in 1991, he became the youngest person in the school's history to be appointed a full professor. Ghemawat was also the youngest "guru" included in the guide to the greatest management thinkers of all time published in 2008 by The Economist. He is the Chairman of the Foundation for Practice and Research in Strategic Management (PRISM). Professor Ghemawat also served on the taskforce appointed by the AACSB, the leading accreditation body for business schools, on the globalisation of management education, and authored the report's recommendations about what to teach students about globalisation and how.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Pankaj Ghemawat challenges current thinking on globalisation and explains to audiences his controversial theory as to why he believes 'the world is not flat' and why we are living in an era of 'semi-globalisation'. By basing his research on real-world case studies and with a mastery of economic data, Prof. Ghemawat offers CEOs and business leaders refreshing and effective strategies for sustained business development in today's volatile economic climate.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

An astute commentator on global trends and current core competencies, Prof. Ghemawat delivers informative and well balanced presentations which offer essential insights and thought-provoking impulses for today's decision makers.
