

Pat Cash

Wimbledon Winner 1987

An icon of professional tennis

Pat Cash is best known as the flamboyant winner of Wimbledon 1987. Nowadays he works as TV commentator and presenter and is developing his business interests which include the Pat Cash Tennis Academy.

TOPICS:

- Motivation
- Achieving Goals
- Reaching the Top
- After Dinner
- Environment

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2002 Uncovered: The Autobiography of Pat Cash

IN DETAIL:

Australian born Pat, started playing tennis aged 8 and through perseverance, was the best player in Australia by the time he reached 14. In 1982, Pat reached the quarterfinals of the Australian Open and in 1984 the semi-finals of the US Open and the Wimbledon Championships. He continued on the full-time circuit until 1997. Since his retirement, Pat has resided mainly in the UK and has coached top players like Greg Rusedski and Mark Philippoussis. He also regularly writes articles for an 'instructional series' within the Australian Tennis Magazine and works closely with GOAL a charity helping street children in the third world. Pat is the co-founder of Planet Ark, a non-profit organisation whose campaigns have been developed to address serious environmental issues in a practical and straight-forward way.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Pat regularly addresses conferences and thrills and motivates his audience with his great success story. He explains how he managed to reach the top of the professional tennis circuit and how we can achieve our own personal and professional goals.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

An experienced television commentator, Pat's relaxed presentation style and professionalism make him highly sought-after as a conference and after dinner speaker.