IN DETAIL:

Simon joined the Welsh Guards, and before forming part of the Falklands Task Force, served in Berlin, Kenya and Northern Ireland. In 1982 Simon was aboard the Royal Fleet Auxiliary Sir Galahad when it was attacked and destroyed by Argentine aircraft. The horrific burns which he suffered have required a series of operations which continue to this day. His life is an active one, having learnt to fly and is a highly proficient saloon car-racing driver. In addition, he has many charity commitments including active support of the Royal British Legion, and the Royal Star and Garter Homes.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Despite these injuries and the physical and mental suffering which they caused, Simon Weston's life is an example of outstanding personal courage and triumph over adversity. He is a well known broadcasting celebrity and hosts his own show on BBC Radio Wales.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Simon Weston's presentations are powerful, frank and moving. He inspires audiences with his experiences, told with wit and charm.
