

Stephen Grey

Investigative Writer & Broadcaster

"Winner of the Kurt Schork Award for International Reporting"

Stephen Grey is a leading investigative journalist and author. He is a special correspondent for Reuters and a former editor of The Sunday Times' investigations unit, the Insight Team. Stephen has reported for Channel 4 Dispatches, BBC Newsnight, BBC Radio Four and World Service.

TOPICS:

- Corruption within Financial Institutions
- Money Laundering Around the Globe
- Trumps Panama Project
- Conflicts in the Middle East
- Counter Terrorism and Human Espionage since the Cold War

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2015	The New Spymasters
2009	Operation Snakebite
2006	Ghost Plane

IN DETAIL:

Stephen is known for revealing details of the CIA's program of 'extraordinary rendition', reports into fraud and mismanagement at the European Commission. Stephen has covered the subject of national security in its many forms, including terrorism, the work of security agencies, as well military conflict, including in Kosovo, Iraq and Afghanistan. Stephen covers subjects that have been insufficiently explored in depth, and after joining Reuters, Stephen has dealt with the investigations into Greek banks and looked at money flows around those close to the leadership of Russia.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Stephen offers his audiences keynote presentations, participation in panel debates and his broadcast work makes him well suited for video and social media led campaigns.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Stephen is an informative and captivating Speaker, who takes his audiences inside some of the biggest stories of our times.