

Stephen K Amos

Stand Up Comedian and Actor

"The maestro of feel-good comedy"

Stephen Amos is a gifted actor who has impressed audiences and critics with his performances on stage and screen and has proved not only a gift for comedy but also for more serious roles. He has built a reputation as a peerless compere, a popular stand-up and an acclaimed comic writer.

TOPICS:

- Comedy
- Host and Awards
- Compere
- After Dinner

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2012 I Used To Say My Mother Was Shirley Bassey

IN DETAIL:

Stephen has performed at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe every year since 2003, after making his debut in 2001. Stephen has had his own TV show on BBC Two, The Stephen K Amos Show and recorded his own radio series Life: An Idiots Guide for BBC Radio 4. No stranger to the screen, he has appeared on: QI, Have I Got News For You, Time Gentleman Please, Mob Rules, The Casting Couch, Good Stuff, The 100 Greatest Scary Moments, Elvis Has Left The Building, The BBC Stand Up Show, Live at The Apollo and Mock the Week. Aside from being one of the nation's favourite faces on television, Stephen is a prolific writer and performer releasing a new hour-long show every year and touring all over the world at festivals. In 2019, Amos starred in BBC's Pilgrimage show.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Stephen K Amos has the sort of commanding presence and confidence that could only have come from years of working the circuit. He is at the forefront of a new band of comedians, side splittingly funny, he's a must for a set after dinner, to present awards or to host an event.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Stephen has charmed and entertained audiences all over the world with his natural, assured delivery and his honest, original material.

© 2026 Celebrity Speakers Ltd