

Tara Shine

Adventurer, TV Presenter & Writer

"A proven thought leader on climate justice and environmental issues"

Dr Tara Shine is an expert in the field of climate change and climate justice with a passion for communicating her science and her positive vision for the future. She has advised world leaders, governments, multilateral agencies and civil society organisations on climate change, environmental policy and development assistance.

TOPICS:

- Finding Solutions to the Crisis Facing our Planet
- Geopolitics and Global Decision Making
- International Climate Change Negotiations
- Climate Change
- Science
- Host/Facilitator

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

2020 How to Save Your Planet

IN DETAIL:

Tara's knowledge, passion and interest in climate change, the environment and development issues has taken her across the seven continents of the world in many different capacities. She advises world leaders, governments, multilateral agencies and civil society organisations globally. Formerly Special Advisor to the Mary Robinson Foundation – Climate Justice and Adviser to The Elders, Tara is Chair of the International Institute of Environment and Development (IIED). Tara is Co-Founder and Director of the award-winning social enterprise, Change by Degrees, which educates and inspires people at home, at work and in their community to live more sustainably.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

With extensive experience of public speaking and storytelling combined with expert insights into the geopolitics of global decision-making, Tara uses all her energy and expertise to highlight the impacts of climate change on people and their rights, as well as on our planet home.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

As an inspirational speaker and a recognised science communicator Tara brings passion to her subject matter, effectively engaging her audience and delivering the message.