

Taryn Southern is an award-winning creative technologist, filmmaker, and futurist whose work sits at the crossroads of human potential, creativity, and emerging technology. From her early success as a YouTube creator with over one billion views to composing an entire pop album with AI and directing a critically acclaimed documentary on neurotechnology, she has consistently been at the forefront of digital innovation.

TOPICS:

- Limitless: Unleashing Creativity with AI
- Superhuman: The Future of Human & AI Collaboration
- Storytelling with Emerging Technologies
- Scaling the Imagination with AI

LANGUAGES:

She presents in English.

IN DETAIL:

In 2017, Taryn produced award-winning VR experiences for Google and released I AM AI, the world's first album composed entirely with artificial intelligence, which entered the Top 100 US Radio Charts. Her groundbreaking work continued with the feature documentary I AM HUMAN. Taryn has advised neurotech startups, served as Chief Storytelling Officer for a company that raised over $250M in funding, and helped launch the first brain–computer interface museum. She has been recognised by Fast Company, Wired, Forbes, Harvard Business Review, and Vanity Fair, named among the Top 20 Women in VR, and is a three-time Streamy Award nominee.

WHAT SHE OFFERS YOU:

Taryn helps organisations understand, humanise, and harness disruptive technologies. With her rare ability to bridge science, technology, and human emotion, she enables audiences to reimagine what's possible for themselves and their organisations.

HOW SHE PRESENTS:

Taryn's presentations are dynamic, visionary, and deeply human. Blending storytelling, multimedia, and live demonstrations of new technologies, she captivates audiences with her creativity and clarity.