

Timi Merriman-Johnson

Founder of Mr Money-Jar & Financial Content Creator

"An accomplished personal finance expert"

Timi Merriman-Johnson is an award-winning financial content creator, podcaster, author and founder of Mr MoneyJar, a UK-based financial education company. Mr MoneyJar offers accessible, practical financial guidance, through digital content, events and 1-2-1 coaching, and has been featured on the BBC, LadBible and Sky News.

TOPICS:

- o Money Management
- o Financial Education
- o Building Generational Wealth
- o Pensions
- o Budgeting

LANGUAGES:

He presents in English.

PUBLICATIONS:

- 2025 The Colour of Money: The Definitive Guide to Finances, Wealth and Race
- 2023 Podcast: Be Good with Money

IN DETAIL:

Timi is an ambassador at National Numeracy, an independent UK charity that promotes the importance of numeracy through creating educational content for all, covering topics such as budgeting, saving, getting on the property ladder and investing. A leading authority in his field, he has recently become the popular host behind the Be Good With Money podcast, a platform which allows him to collaborate with other financial professionals who are using money to create a positive impact throughout the community. Timi began his professional career by completing two internships at WPP and The Futures Company. Securing the role of Communities Executive at Kiosk in 2012, he developed a wide range of digital marketing skills before fulfilling the role of Senior Research Executive at Citigate Dewe Rogerson.

WHAT HE OFFERS YOU:

Timi speaks at conferences and events around the world and offers simple, practical guidance on personal finance and investing for people and businesses. He runs coaching sessions, monthly meetups, and educational workshops for professionals and young people.

HOW HE PRESENTS:

Timi is a captivating speaker with a wealth of insight. His enthusiasm is infectious and his deep knowledge shines through.